Dear Member universities,

Announcement of the 17th International Symposium on Teacher Education in East Asia

We would like to thank you for your continued support and cooperation in the activities and operations of the International Consortium for Universities of Education in East Asia (ICUE).

We are pleased to announce that the schedule for the 17th International Symposium on Teacher Education in East Asia has been finalized. Please refer to the attached documents for details.

Since the first meeting was held in 2006, this symposium has been hosted by the member universities in China, Korea and Japan. It has become a place to share the views of teachers and the teachers in the traditional culture inherent in East Asia.

The 17th Symposium will carry out the comprehensive theme of “Teacher Education and Training in East Asia toward the DX Era”. We would like to ask your faculty and graduate students to make the presentation and participation widely known.

We look forward to having many participants from your university.

Sincerely yours,

KAWATE Keiichi
Vice President, Tokyo Gakugei University

AKAKI Toyo
Vice President, Osaka Kyoiku University

The 17th International Symposium on Teacher Education in East Asia (Outline)

1. Main theme: Teacher Education and Training in East Asia toward the DX Era

As indicated in the theme of the 16th Conference, this symposium has required a theme that will contribute to the new development of teacher training in East Asia after the pandemic. This is clearly reflected in the challenges of how to incorporate rapidly advancing technological innovation into teacher training education.

The theme of the 17th annual conference was established as a comprehensive theme so that it would be an opportunity to develop new teacher training in the East Asian world based on this recognition of the current situation.

Under this main theme, the Breakout Sessions specifically set individual themes raised at the 16th ICUE Executive Committee Meeting.
